

Notice of Temporary Detour - Ammonite Falls Regional Trail

During May 2019, timber contractors will be clearing wind throw southeast of Benson Creek Falls Regional Park in Vancouver Island University's woodlot. The harvest area contains the Ammonite Falls Regional Trail, which provides access to the south end of the Regional Park and Ammonite Falls itself. For safety, a signed detour within the woodlot will be in effect for May to route trail users around the industrial work area.

The detour route starts where the Ammonite Falls Regional Trail leaves Jameson Main. This trailhead will be closed for May, and users directed further west along Jameson Main about 700 m to a woodlot trail called Ammonite Way. Users can then head north on Ammonite Way and, about 400 m along, rejoin the Regional Trail and usual route to the Regional Park and falls. Trail conditions along the detour route are rough but passable.

Detour Period

Thursday May 9th to Friday May 31st
Except weekends and Monday May 20th

To avoid the detour, trail users are reminded that access to Ammonite Falls is always available via the Weigles Road entrance to Benson Creek Falls Regional Park, home of Ammonite Falls.

Play it safe and respect all posted trail closed and detour signs.
